HOW CAN TAC HELP STRENGTHEN YOUR CONTINUUM OF CARE?

While the HEARTH Act and the Continuum of Care Interim Rule have provided communities with opportunities to develop systems and programs to prevent and end homelessness, they have also presented CoCs with challenges regarding planning, system redesign, required performance metrics, and increased local responsibility. Is your community ready to maximize the opportunities presented by the CoC program and meet the requirements outlined by the federal government?

TAC is a national leader in helping states and localities to design, implement, and evaluate strategies to understand their current homeless response system and identify housing and service resources to decrease the number of people experiencing homelessness.

COORDINATED ENTRY — Whether you are preparing to design and implement a new coordinated entry system or seeking to bring a successful system to scale, we can help you assess gaps, maximize participation, and improve outcomes.

PERFORMANCE MEASUREMENT — To demonstrate the data-informed planning and outcomes that funders value, CoCs need to design, implement, and report on both project- and system-level performance measures. TAC can help you to understand your current system and make informed long-term plans that are based on defining performance measures, identifying targets aligned with federal goals, and creating tools to monitor outcomes.

GOVERNANCE AND STRUCTURE — We can help keep your CoC functioning strongly by reviewing your CoC structure, facilitating conversations, reviewing and revising your charter, assessing your committee structure and CoC membership, and making practical recommendations to strengthen your system.

Other aspects of homeless response system planning that we can help you with include designing effective point-in-time counts, identifying and repurposing underperforming projects, and conducting gaps analyses to help you identify ways your community can meet the needs of people who are at risk or currently experiencing homelessness.
